By remaining the original architectural structure, the industrial heritage has been transformed to a gallery to revitalize the old building, which is the significance of the project. Our design concepts are fully implemented in the project. For the internal functions and design, the first floor is the aesthetic space and showroom of sanitary ware, while the second floor is for offices. We used simple blocks to build abstract mountain massifs, confuse the boundaries, and make the illusions of "being in the mountain" for in-depth sightseeing experience and an interior world with oriental aesthetic tastes.

The project is a design studio, and its main business is to design the owner's home. For every family, the design of a new home is an expected dream. In the lonely reinforced concrete city, there are thousands of buildings. Through the windows and doors of each building, we have been looking for the lights inside. Because there are stories in every window and door. We combine the spiritual core of surrealism Gertrude Abercrombie, and integrate the thinking and design of windows and door openings into the interior.

Contempo is the office of an established architecture and interior firm in Hong Kong. The former industrial space is transformed into a hybrid work and creative environment, designed to promote a sense of community and inspire ingenuity. Open work areas merge with a myriad of social spaces, drawing on an inventive palette of warm oak, galvanized steel and subtle colors to impart a calm ambience. A feature timber staircase leads to the upper floor, where a standalone, multi-purpose gallery showcases commissioned artwork and sculptural pieces. Set in the corner of the gallery, a striking retail display stands out with textured hunter green walls and speckled terrazzo.

The project was born in the spread of the epidemic. We reconsidered the practicalities and possibilities of working in an office scenario, and explored the design of office space and tried to redefine it with this possibility in mind. In the traditional office space, there are usually several kinds of space with maximum useful frequency, such as reception, independent office, negotiation room and conference room. We try to remove the main function of the office and define the office space as a composite space.

This new office opens a new chapter for JG Phoenix in a new city. It pays tribute to the past, and also carries expectation and rich imagination of future space design. A key design thread of this workspace is to show respect to classics. The designers utilized architectural languages to interpret forms, and meanwhile carefully considered light and shadow effects as well as details. Some materials are given an aged texture, and others present clear grain. The treatment of materials reflects meticulous pursuit of craftsmanship and detailing.
